

Making a purchase?

Then read on!

"What is a good source for product reviews, ratings, and prices on digital cameras?"

"I'm in the market for a new vehicle, and I want to explore the option of a hybrid. Where should I start?"

"I'm buying a new washing machine and want to know more about these front-loading types, and see which one has the best repair record. All your Consumer Reports magazines are checked out. Where else can I look?"

Reliable answers to your consumer questions are only a click away!

Easy-to-use tools help answer questions about pending purchases!

You work hard for your money, and when you need to make a major purchase you want to ensure you're getting the most value possible.

As a library user, you have access to resources that can direct you to product reviews, research, and other information that can inform your buying experience. You can even access past issues of Consumer Reports online, without a subscription.

These online resources, available through your public library, are only a click away, and they're available whenever you need them. All you need is a library card to access most of these resources from home

And you can enhance this information by getting personal help from a librarian.

"We're remodeling our kitchen, and we want to learn more about "green building" materials, construction options, and cost comparisons to traditional construction methods."

Brought to you by your library and the South Central Library System, serving Adams, Columbia, Dane, Green, Portage, Sauk & Wood Counties.
