

Are you a student or teacher?

Then read on!

"I need some recent articles on how the Internet is influencing marketing decisions and impacting sales patterns as they relate to consumer goods."

"Do you have an online encyclopedia?"

"I'm planning a class discussion on government emergency response and need current and authoritative information on hurricane Katrina. Can you help?"

Resources to enhance education are only a click away!

Useful tools to enhance teaching and learning!

The Internet is a valuable tool for teachers and students, but finding reliable and current information is a never-ending challenge!

As a library user, you have access to resources you can trust, and librarians that can guide your educational quest.

This selection of online resources, available through your public library, are only a click away, and they're available whenever you need them. All you need is a library card to access most of these resources from home.

Enhance your lesson planning or project research with full text articles from reputable scientific and research journals, magazines, and newspapers.

"Can you help me find some research and anecdotal information by tomorrow about the Red Panda?"

"I'm going to take the SAT and ACT and need some resources to help prepare. What are my best options?"
