Through the Wisconsin Public Library Consortium, you can now download titles from the "Digital Book Catalog & Download Center" using a service called OverDrive.

Under the first phase of this project the number of available titles is limited, but as demand increases more titles will be added.

To download audio books, you must:

- ➔ install proprietary software (Windows only) on your home computer;
- ➔ use this software to listen to the book; or
- ➔ copy it to a PDA or MP3 player that supports the Windows Media Format.

Books downloaded from the site are checked out for a two-week period, at the end of which the files are rendered unplayable on any of these devices.

To use other devices (including iPods) you must burn the audiobook to CD, load the files into the appropriate software, and transfer the files to the device. Audiobooks burned to CDs do not have an expiration date.

This exciting new resource is brought to you by your library, the South Central Library System, and the Wisconsin Public Library Consortium.
